We know that investing in yourself is key to sustainable success and personal satisfaction. Attending this experiential teaching workshop is a great opportunity to walk away with career-changing skills and tools for personal growth. Cost for the weekend is only $300 and includes healthy and delicious meals by Chef du Jour, Michael Griffin.

Note: This weekend program starts the first year of a three-year certificate program in Gestalt therapy, and some students elect to complete just the first year, which provides a valuable Training experience in itself. By attending this weekend you are not obligated to join our program.

Come join us and create the life you've always wanted! You will develop enhanced competencies in self-awareness and confidence, improve your personal presence and the ability to impact others, and increase your capacity to act with clarity and purpose. It's an opportunity for an ongoing intensive professional and personal growth process supervised by two master practitioners, Dori Middleman MD, and Mark Putnam, MD.

Live at a distance yet want the personal/professional growth the Gestalt Training Program offers? Although all required weekend workshops must be attended in person, we offer virtual attendance for the evening training classes. Since 1997, we have offered our program to include students from Los Angeles, Kansas City, Harrisburg, New York, Wilmington, Allentown, Massachusetts, and Washington, DC.

CEU INFORMATION:
